The BBC Television Centre contacted Able Canopies requesting a site survey to be conducted as they were in need of a covered smoking area for their staff. They were interested in Able Canopies' Commercial Awnings that they viewed on the website.

A site survey was arranged and the Able Canopies surveyor explained the different types of awnings that they currently supply, along with the specifications of each product. There are: the Palladio, the Dakar and the Italia.

The Site Manager from the BBC requested a quotation for the Palladio Commercial Awning using the waterproof fabric option. They also asked for the BBC logo to be printed onto the awning.

The quotation was sent and the customer was happy with the price and specifications and placed order.

Once the order was received the awning was installed with no problems and the Site Manager was very impressed with the service received.

"Excellent installation team. Very considerate and hardworking!" – Site Manager, Johnson Controls
